Future Work Lab

Description

- The connection of live machine data with the worker and the exchange via mobile devices, such as Smartwatches, enables communication between mobile employees
- Context from production captured in real time is used to adapt and optimize production processes
- Example shows how to avoid waiting times of a machine waiting for a worker

Change in work

- Collaboration among employees is simplified, since information can be distributed to employees in a customized way
- Workers, planners and foremen can carry out automation themselves in consultation and react flexibly
